"The things you are passionate about are not random, they are your calling."

~~Fabienne Fredrickson

- claim your full feminine voice
- power comes from listening to our own voice
 - share your wisdom
 - share stories, experiences, feelings
- realise the importance and peace-full power of our collective feminine role in society

Within a group of women, learning from each others story, seemingly similar yet completely unique individuals, we find ourselves understanding that we are each a reflection of the other. We recognise and recover our strengths and witness those of others. A circle of women is a mysterious space, where self-worth can be cultivated and world peace can be nurtured.

Enjoy the support of a circle of women as together we explore the history of our generations, how we learned to become the women we are now, and to empower ourselves to be strong women in our relationships, our homes and our communities.

Glori Zeltzer, MA., MFT is a licensed psychotherapist in California. As a young woman of the early women's rights generation, a professional woman, a mother, and a wife, Glori has an historical perspective on women's roles in family, relationship, and society. Her exploration into what it has meant for her to be a conscious woman in today's world has been her lifelong journey. Guiding couples, women, and men in their journeys to create lives they want to live, has been her life's work. For over thirty-five years she has guided individuals and couples on their journeys toward joyous and passionate relationships.

Clare Orchard is a Holistic Peace Practitioner, Way of Council facilitator, Montessori kindergarten teacher, Dien Chan facial reflexologist, interpreter, writer, green thumb and artist in movement and voice. She traveled Europe with avid curiosity to discover herself through the relationship with others, the environment and nature around her. Her personal life, her family together with her husband and her network of friends and colleagues, are the source of her actions, visions and inspirations and the basis of the co-creation of her Cultural Association: Nature & Relationship, which collaborates with other similar projects around the world.
